

Communities and Local Government invite ideas for Big Society

At the launch of the four Big Society vanguard areas in Liverpool on 19 July, the Prime Minister said:

"If you've got an idea to make life better, if you want to improve your local area, don't just think about it - tell us what you want to do and we will try and give you the tools to make this happen."

Communities and Local Government are taking forward this initiative by inviting you to submit details of proposals for local projects which embrace Big Society principles.

We'd like to receive a brief outline of the project you want to take forward; details of the local partners you propose to work with, for example community groups and/or social enterprises; the expected outcomes and the role, if any, you expect central Government to play, for example in assisting with overcoming any bureaucratic barrier which may impede local delivery.

Send your ideas to BigSocietyideas@communities.gsi.gov.uk

You will receive an immediate acknowledgement and an initial response on your proposal within seven days.

The full text of the Prime Minister's speech can be found at:

<http://www.number10.gov.uk/news/speeches-and-transcripts/2010/07/big-society-speech-53572>

This article was offered to oldcatton.com by the Old Catton Parish Council – August 2010